Topic : "Patient Safety: Need of the Hour!"

Summary: Patient safety is the prevention of inadvertent harm to patients by understanding the causative factors. Risks and vulnerabilities are identified and controlled to provide the safest medical practice environment. The importance of patient safety lies in the fact that when we talk about patient safety then we are really focussing on how the healthcare organisations and institutes make efforts to protect the patients from errors, injuries, accidents and infections. If we look at facts then in developed nations 1 in 10 patients are harmed while receiving care in hospital and the figure in developing nations is alarmingly 20 times high. In India precise data is not available but according to studies for every 100 hospitalisation average of 12.7 adverse events occur. Patient safety is a global problem and every nation is trying their best to provide good quality and safe care to patients. Various organisations and bodies like JCI and WHO have taken out Patients Safety Goals and Patients Safety Solutions, which act as guide in provision of safe care.
